Veblen Wines is a licensed member of the Liv-Ex Fine Wine Exchange, the industry's leading trading platform, giving our members access to the largest pool of buyers sellers of fine wine in the world. Liv-Ex is the most efficient and cost effective route to market.

Each trade on Liv-Ex is governed by a pre-agreed trading contract, giving a full guarantee of quality and provenance.

The guarantee is presented in the form of an "SIB Passport" which is exclusive to Liv-Ex and only lasts 2 years.

info@veblenwine.com
www.veblenwine.com

At all times, wines purchased by our members are securely stored in an independent government bonded warehouse, insured at all risks.

Wines are stored at Vine International, wholly owned subsidiary of Liv-Ex. Alternatively, those who wish to transfer their wines in another location may provide details and we will arrange for transfer, charges will apply.

A LIV|EX COMPANY

Vine International is the only storage provider fully integrated with Liv-Ex the exchange, acting as the clearance and settlement house on all transactions.

Using Vine provides our members with peace of mind knowing wines are stored in perfect conditions and insured to market value at all times under bond.

Your first year's insurance and storage is free for wines purchased from us, subsequent years thereafter are as follows;

12 x 75cl (9 litres) £19.20 includes VAT

6 x 75cl (4.5 litres) £ 9.60 includes VAT

Each case is assigned a Unique identification number (UID) to provide traceability on your account. You will be able to see all your account details and relevant information on the quarterly appraisals.

We can facilitate the movement of wines to Vine that are currently stored in other locations to enable condition reporting (Quality Control) for the purpose of valuing and selling your collection.

For further information apply online at www.veblenwine.com or contact us via email info@veblenwine.com or phone +44 (0) 1622 672 314 and we will be more than happy to help.

Our Selection Approach

As an alternative investment, wine has a very low correlation to equities and bonds. The asset class is considered an important tool for any diverse investment portfolio.

"The story with other physical assets is similar: since 1993, when the first monthly wine index began, wine prices have risen 12-fold, while gold has increased just 3.6 fold and the FTSE 100 has only slightly more than doubled."

Source: Financial Times July 10th 2015

Veblen Wines uses a systematic approach when selecting the wines we bring to the table.

Veblen adopts a three pronged approach to the market as follows;

1. Incremental Price Theory
2. Price Plateau
3. Inverse Supply

"Once bottled, the quantity of wine can only reduce thereafter due to consumption."

"Since 1988 Fine Wine has outperformed Global Equities 98% of the time"

As with any investment, identifying potential risks and minimising those risks is paramount to achieving returns.

In the fine wine market there are significant risks that we believe it is essential to minimise or remove, we achieve this through good practice as listed below.

Quality and Provenance of wine purchased: Liv-Ex guarantees the quality and provenance of all wines via the "SIB Passport", this is only valid for 2 years and you must request a new SIB passport thereafter, there is a cost for this.

Legal Ownership: We ensure that our members have full legal title over the assets they purchase from Veblen Wines subject to our terms of business.

Tracking your investment: Quarterly appraisals track the performance of your portfolio.

Realising your investment: Our membership of the Liv-Ex exchange provides real-time pricing enabling you to access the markets liquidity and execute sales within the liquidity pool available at the time.
